The Painters

Daisy Duck's nieces, April, May and June, were very naughty one day. They found Auntie Daisy's make-up bag open on the dressing table and picked up her stick of mascara.

“I know how Auntie Daisy does her eyelashes,” said April. “And eye shadow,” said May. “Like this!” said June.

And in no time those naughty girls were busy painting their eyelashes black and their eyelids blue and their cheeks pink. They stuck on curly false eyelashes and found lots of lipstick in different shades of pink, and tried on all Daisy's wigs. They had a lovely time, but they used far too much of everything and they looked frightful!

Suddenly they heard the front door bang. “Auntie Daisy's come home!” they gasped. “Oh, dear!”

Daisy Duck went straight upstairs to take off her hat, and caught her nieces red-handed—or, rather, red-faced!

“You naughty girls!” she scolded—but she had to laugh at their rainbow colored faces! “Go and scrub it off,” she told them.

They found the make-up very hard to get off, and when they came back, pink and shining.

Daisy said, “If you like painting, I've got the very job for you. The spare room needs decorating. You'll find paint and brushes in there. Off you go!”

April, May and June found the big paint brushes very heavy, but at last they finished the room.

“Whew!” gasped April. “Done at last,” sighed May. But June giggled. “At least,” she pointed out, “we won't have to scrub this paint off!”

A Tricky Monkey

Kojo the monkey lived in the rain forest. There were lots of monkeys in Kojo's part of the forest. Kojo had many brothers and sisters. That was good, because Kojo had many monkeys to play with. But Kojo liked to get attention, too. That was hard to do with so many monkeys around. One day Kojo decided to play a trick on the other monkeys.

 "Leopard!" Kojo cried. "A leopard is coming!"

The monkeys scrambled. They climbed up to the highest tree branches. They shook with fear. Leopards like to eat monkeys.

 Kojo laughed. "Ha! Just kidding," he said.

 Kojo's Aunt Ama scolded him. "Nobody likes a liar, Kojo."

Kojo felt bad for a little while. But he soon got bored. A few days later, he did it again.

 "Leopard!" Kojo cried. "A leopard is coming!" The monkeys scrambled again. Kojo laughed. "Ha! Just kidding again," he said.

 Aunt Ama shook her head. "Be careful, Kojo. Nobody will believe anything you say if you keep this up."

The monkeys were all pretty upset with Kojo. They ignored him. Kojo sat in a tree branch, bored and lonely. Then he saw a shadow on the ground below. A hungry-looking leopard padded across the rain forest floor.

 "Leopard! A leopard is coming for real this time!" Kojo yelled.

None of the monkeys paid any attention. The leopard was headed right for them. Kojo knew what he had to do.

 "Here, leopard! Over here!" he yelled.

The leopard chased Kojo. Kojo climbed up to the highest branches. The other monkeys now saw the leopard and they climbed into the trees, too. The leopard could not climb as high as the monkeys. She gave up and walked away.

Kojo was relieved. The other monkeys were glad that Kojo had tried to save them. They forgave him for lying and played with him again. And Kojo became someone they could trust.

Do They Play Soccer in Heaven?

There were once two girls named Sue and Kate who were very good friends. They enjoyed eating, talking, and having adventures together.

But most of all they loved playing soccer together. Sue was a fullback and Kate the goalie. They were teammates on the town team and then in high school. They even went to college together and played on the soccer team.

 One day Kate said to Sue, "This is so much fun! Do you think we'll still be playing soccer when we're older?"

 "I certainly hope so." Sue replied.

They both lived to quite an old age.

 One day Sue said to Kate, "I wonder if people play soccer up in heaven."

 "Hmm, I don't know. That sure would be nice, wouldn't it?" Kate said.

 "Let's make a pact. Whoever dies first will try and come back to let the other one know if people play soccer up there."

 Kate agreed. "It's a deal!"

Time went by, and it turned out to be Sue who got to heaven first. Kate couldn't wait for Sue to return. Days and Weeks passed, and Kate had just about given up hope. Then one afternoon, Sue appeared at her door! Kate was so excited!

 "Sue! Come on in! Sit down and tell me all about heaven. But before anything else, I've just got to know. Do they play soccer up there?"

 "Well, Kate, to answer your question, I have some good news and some bad news. Which do you want first?"

 "Give me the good news!" Shouted Kate.

 "The good news is that soccer is very popular up in heaven. I play fullback, and you won't believe this, but I've gotten faster since I died."

 "That's great, Sue. But what's the bad news?" Sue answered a bit slowly.

 "The bad news is that I happened to look at the schedule.....and YOU are supposed to be goalie tomorrow!"

And who knows? Sue and Kate are probably still playing soccer in heaven!
